IMPORTANT NOTICE

To Secretaries of Corporations Doing Business in Nevada But Incorporated in Other States

OUR CHARGE $9.00

SECTION 1.—All foreign corporations doing business in the State of Nevada shall, not later than the month of March in each year, beginning in the year 1914, publish a statement of their last year's business in some newspaper published in the State of Nevada. If published in a daily newspaper, such statement shall be published for a period of one week, or if published in a semi-weekly or tri-weekly newspaper, for a period of two weeks; or if published in a weekly newspaper for a period of four weeks.

SECTION 2.—The secretary of the company publishing the statement shall file a copy with the assessor of each county of the State of Nevada, in which said company is doing business.

SECTION 4.—Any district attorney in the state is competent to sue to recover the penalty, or the attorney general. The first county suing through its district attorney shall secure the penalty, and if no suit is brought for the penalty by any district the State shall have the right to recover through its attorney general.

The TONOPAH DAILY BONANZA will make publication required by law, which includes the filing of a sworn affidavit of publication with the assessor of each of the counties of the State, within which the company is doing business; an affidavit of publication will also be furnished secretaries.

LONDON FOG BACK ON JOB

Citizen of Big City Secretly Proud of What Visitors Universally Denominate a Nuisance.

The "London particular," the blinding, choking, solid, yellow fog, the Londoner's pride and the visitor's despair, has come back into its own. London's fog is not the soft, moist, gray mist that hangs over an American city in wet weather. It may be absolutely dry or as wet as rain itself. It may envelop all of London, a blanket that recedes unwillingly, step by step, as a pedestrian advances.

It may envelop one or a dozen sections, when it may be seen in the distance, and is stepped into as definitely as one steps into a doorway.

Whatever the real "London particular's" character, it is a real fog; and when it comes trains stop or slow to a nervous crawl and street traffic is all but halted.

The London fog comes with the autumn and early winter, when fires are lighted in 2,000,000 fireplaces and the smoke is unable to penetrate the clouds. For several years there had not been much fog; last year there was almost none. This year it is back, and the Londoner, cursing it when it makes him an hour late for work, secretly hugs it to his breast—he couldn't help it if he wanted to—and gloats over it as part of his heritage. No one knows where it passed its vacation.

MANY ADULTS TOY WRECKERS

Fathers, Mothers, and Uncles, All Too
Fond of Trifling With the Children's Playthings.

Fathers and uncles have always made it a practice to play with little Willie's mechanical toys at Christmas time until they were broken, frequently permitting Willie to look on merely, while a group of adults manipulated the toys all Christmas day.

But what happened to little Willie was as nothing to the wrongs practiced by mothers who have purchased walking dolls for their little girls.

A little girl whose family had been making entirely unsuccessful efforts to conceal the ante-Yuletide presence in the home of a walking doll came out with the whole history of the case one evening.

"Are you going to show her the walking doll?" she asked wistfully, indicating a dinner guest as the "her" in question.

Father and mother looked at each other aghast. Theoretically the little girl was not supposed to know there was a walking doll in the house until Santa Claus introduced them. Tactfully they ignored the question.

"Bedtime, dear," suggested mother sweetly.

But the little girl had reached the end of her endurance. Desperately she turned to the guest:

"They play with it every night after I go to bed," she wailed.

Lloyd George's Jokes on Himself.

What has saved Lloyd George is his sense of humor. He knows how to laugh at himself. His favorite story—now a chestnut—was of the man who saved a drowning person in the Thames and explained, "Yes—I jumped in after him—got him by the neck—turned him over and found he wasn't Lloyd George—and then I pulled him out." His next favorite is of the old Welsh farmer who walked many miles in Orkney, where Lloyd George lives. "I'm going to have a look at David," said this admirer. "David's now a great man." "Why yes, he gets £5,000 a year!" answered his friend. The farmer looked thoughtfully and replied—"It's not the £5,000 a year that matters. Our David lives near the pile."—P. W. Wilson in World's Work.

"While You Wait."

"Repairs while you wait" may be explained in more ways than one, according to a Jeffersonville business man, who had discovered a meaning he had not thought of at first. He took a pair of shoes to a shop that advertised "something different in repairing," and promised the job "while you wait." The business man said he did not wish to wait but would call later. It was not until the third visit that he got the shoes. He was inclined to become sarcastic but checked himself, looked thoughtfully at the sign and remarked to himself, as the light broke: "Well, I waited."—Indianapolis News.

Has a Right to Bite.

What shall be the penalty for a stolen kiss? Froude tells of a celebrated case three-quarters of a century ago, to-wit: "In 1837 Mr. Thomas Savarland brought an action against Miss Caroline Williams, who had bitten a piece out of his nose for a joke. The defendant was acquitted and the judge laid it down that 'When a man kisses a woman against her will she is fully entitled to bite his nose if she so pleases.'"—Milwaukee Sentinel.

She Remembered.

Rosemary was four years old and was always inquisitive. One day her mother was sweeping and a curious looking insect ran from beneath the rug. Her mother told her it was a "thousand-legged worm."

About a week later Rosemary was drawing some pictures. Her mother asked what the drawing was supposed to be. Rosemary said: "Why, mother, don't you know. It's a picture of the several-legged worm we saw the other day."

OLD CITY ON TEMPLE SITE

American Archaeologists Have Convinced Themselves of Facts Concerning Ancient Sardis.

Doctor Hogarth, keeper of the Ashmolean museum in Oxford, recently gave a series of lectures on the excavations conducted by American archaeologists at Sardis. About fifty Latin inscriptions were discovered in the temple ruins by the Americans. Most of the inscriptions were found, however, on the lower slopes of the mountain at the rear of the temple.

The object of the undertaking was to settle the question as to whether the temple columns stood on the site of the ancient Sardis or whether it had disappeared with the collapse of the acropolis. The archaeologists satisfied themselves that the ancient town did stand on the temple site. The theory is that the temple was built originally in the Fourth century; indeed, one of the inscriptions discovered dates back to the time of Antigonous, or about 300 B. C. Traces have also been found of an earlier sandstone temple under the other fragments. Originally the temple had eight columns in each of the two facades; but many architects today would design a building to support such great weight on such supports.

The work of excavation was greatly facilitated by the importation of a whole railroad from the United States.

322,000 Grains From One.

An experiment to show the fecundity of a grain of wheat has just been concluded at the official school of agriculture, Valladolid, Spain, with the result that one grain produced in a year 322,000 grains.

At the end of July 190 grains were sown separately. At the end of September the grains had developed an average of 12 shoots each. These were cut and transplanted and by the end of October each cutting furnished an average of eight shoots, which produced 95 ears each, and each ear gave an average of 50 grains. A simple multiplication sum shows that each of the original grains planted reproduced itself 12x8x95x50, making a total of 322,000 grains.

Stars in Daylight.

It has been recently found that photographs of stars down to the sixth magnitude (degree of brightness) can be taken in broad daylight, so that astronomical photography need no longer be confined to the night. The discovery follows Lord Rayleigh's finding that the color of the sky is caused by the diffusion of sunlight by the atmosphere, and that the quantity of light dispersed is different in the case of different colors.

If the stellar photographs are taken through a very deep red screen the stars appear with distinctness. Experiments on these novel lines are being carried out at several observatories.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Nature Lesson.

Marion is an observing child. Recently the family motored into the country and was caught in a rain storm. While waiting for the rain to stop the family, safe in the sedan, was watching horses in a field nearby. "Isn't it funny," Marion observed, "when it rains the animals always turn in the opposite direction." And friends of animals will agree that most of them, at least horses, do not face a storm, but turn in the opposite direction.

Prevents Motor Skidding.

As an antidisk arrangement, as shown in the Popular Mechanics Magazine, side wheels are placed on a motorcycle recently displayed at a Berlin auto show. Each side wheel is arranged at such an angle from the body as to prevent the machine from skidding or falling over when turning in either direction. These wheels also support the motorcycle when not in use.

Cleanup Day.

This will notify citizens of Tonopah that cleanup days this year will be on April 11, 12 and 13. All residents are requested to rake up the debris in their yards and place same in piles conveniently located, that it may be removed by trucks on the days in question.

Either Coat or Cape in This

Garment

Back of every radical fashion is a fundamental idea which when traced to its source has some particular appeal to woman. Arrival of spring fashions shows the major idea this year to be "two-in-one" garments. The cape-dress and cape-suits are among the newest showings. The idea offers woman a bargain of two garments for the price of one.

The newest offering is the coat shown here, which is convertible either to a cape-coat or a smart raglan sleeve sport coat. When sleeves are unbuttoned they form a cape. When buttoned as shown on the left, a raglan sport model is obtained.

FISHING SEASON OPENS HERE ON MAY FIRST

The fishing season in District No. 5, which includes Nye county, does not open until May 1. Instead of April 15 as many have been led to believe. The season continues until September 30, so disciples of Isak Walton need have no alarm concerning the amount of time they will have at their disposal to do their angling.

REWARD

A reward of $100 will be given for the recovery of bullion stolen Thursday morning from the American Express company truck; and $100 additional reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the thief. M24-1f
